

Leadership: The Road to Success

The Iowa/Illinois Chapter of Women in Defense (WID) invites you to participate in a training day that will engage you in a thought provoking day of leadership examples for your personal growth. We have a diverse group of speakers that will make this learning experience enjoyable.

WID is a non-profit professional organization of both women and men in the public and private sectors whose careers are related to defense and national security. An affiliate of the National Defense Industrial Association (NDIA), WID provides its members with a forum to exchange ideas and experiences and expand their network of contacts. It also provides women opportunities to meet and hear from distinguished officials from the public and private sectors. WID supports career development through mentoring for individuals already involved in defense-related careers, and scholarships for youths interested in pursuing such careers. The organization also provides a forum to address local concerns about the industrial base and maintaining a highly skilled workforce in the Quad City area.
